El “Desafío Messier” ha sido el proyecto de NASE, integrado en el “Día Internacional de la Luz” de la UNESCO, que este año generó una cantidad impresionante de informes. Recibimos 559, de 13 países. La mayoría de los informes eran de Irán, España, China, Rumania, Argentina, Armenia y Nicaragua.

Muchos estudiantes observaron algunos objetos difusos a simple vista, con binoculares o con pequeños telescopios. Recibimos dibujos y fotos de estudiantes entre 3 y 18 años. Además, sus maestros nos enviaron por correo electrónico la lista de objetos que creen que deberían incluirse en un “Catálogo Escolar de NASE”.

Ahora, el objetivo de NASE es preparar y publicar un catálogo que sea útil para usarlo en las escuelas. Esos 16 objetos, de ambos hemisferios, son visibles a simple vista o con binoculares. La lista incluirá 4 galaxias, 4 nebulosas, 4 cúmulos abiertos y 4 cúmulos globulares. Se incluirán más detalles en la próxima Newsletter.

Gracias a Nase por organizar este gran evento y por darnos a los niños y adolescentes interesados en el cielo nocturno la oportunidad de participar en un proyecto de ciencia ciudadana tan interesante.

El acto de clausura lo realizamos a nivel local, en la ciudad de Ramsar, al norte de Irán, a orillas del mar Caspio, en dos escuelas diferentes, el jueves 10 de octubre. Estuvieron presentes 24 niños interesados con sus familias, a quienes les entregamos los certificados de participación, junto con un libro de regalo.

Un cordial saludo

Mahdi Mirfathi, Ramsar, Irán.

Gracias por la oportunidad que nos dieron, a mí y a mis estudiantes, de participar en su programa. Ya hemos recibido y distribuido nuestros certificados. Por favor, háganos saber sobre programas similares en el futuro. Atentamente Varduhi Mkrtchyan, Armenia.

¡Muchas gracias por los certificados! Mis alumnos y sus padres estaban encantados. Aquí tenéis algunas fotos de ese día. Un cordial saludo Lilit (Armenia).
