What would you value more?

- Experience sharing and Exchange
- I place more emphasis on the interactivity of the event and its relevance to astronomical knowledge.
- Activities
- The teaching concept and activity content.
- The effort to perform the activities online to permit the participation of more teachers from far locations.
- The good material, ready to be used in the classroom.
- The translation of the material to the local languages
- The workshops, very practical, simple, non-expensive and interesting.
- The possibility to have a tested material, as NASE proposes, adapted for very young students, which also can be used by the parents, giving continuity of the activity at home.
- The feedback between trainers and trained teachers, which includes the chances to improve the materials, correcting errors or mistakes, and adapting the contents to each culture (as the case of the name of the protagonist Star of the tale)
