NASE course , Kaumas, Lithuania

Leading teacher training sessions is a familiar activity for me, but this particular course was truly a challenge — and a rewarding one.

The group was very diverse, ranging from professional astronomers to primary school teachers with only basic knowledge of astronomy.

The teachers enjoyed the course very much. After the sessions, they were reluctant to leave and kept asking when the next one would be.

The only downside was the timing: it's currently a very intense period in schools, and teachers have limited opportunities to leave their classes.
